

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Contract: Terra Kuroda, A Solo Show

November 29th– December 7th, 2008

Reception: Saturday, November 29th, 8 – 11 PM

Terra Kuroda's Contract poster series explores the radicalism of visual imagery found in contemporary arts. While many techniques in the 1960's politically motivated art works were used to confront the status quo, the appropriation of these techniques in contemporary art today is called into question. Through the theme of memorialization Kuroda's work uses mimicry to highlight these current ineffectual signs of motivation. Antithetical to the notion of 1960's integrity of documentation, a distant narrative is implied. In the Contract series, the use of representation implicates itself in the question, what type of art can motivate in our current times?
